FAIRY HOUSE BUILDING - FRANKLIN PARK SCHOOL MASTER HILL Having made it through another winter, it will soon be the time of year when we see the magical creatures that reappear in New England's fields and woods in the spring. In order to welcome the local elf and fairy population, the Boston Parks and Recreation Department will host their sixth annual Fairy House Building family event on Thursday, April 18, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at Schoolmaster Hill in Franklin Park. Local children and families are invited to help by building tiny homes for them. Spring is the best time to build fairy houses, experts say, providing the magical creatures with shelter for the coming summer months and the fitting season that begins in late May.
